The award received at the Global Junior Challenge ^[1] by the Istituto Ada Negri of Lodi Vecchio has provided enormous impulse, but also responsibility, especially when collaboration involves five different European countries.

In the audio ^[2] interview, teacher Maria Luisa Bosi, Project referent for Italy, recounts the activities of teachers and students over the past months. The work continues to increase, as do collaborations and praise, but their satisfaction continues to grow. Starting from the success of the students who participated in the project, whilst other young students have begun to work on a new project ...

The motivation given for the Special President of the Republic Award reserved to Italian schools is “the project involves children, teachers and English language specialists as well as the families of the primary schools of five European countries on the vital issue of water.”
