Learning is Easy [1], one of the projects at the 8th edition of the Global Junior Challenge [2], will be presented by the Marco Pietrobono Onlus [3] Association. The project addresses the inclusion and integration in school of students with specific learning disabilities (dyslexia, dysgraphia, sight-impaired students, etc.) by donating interactive multimedia boards to primary schools in Rome.

Interactive multimedia boards allow this type of student to actively participate in classroom activities, reducing their isolation and improving their ability to learn.

Interactive multimedia boards and short optic video projectors make lessons more exciting and interactive. In fact, the project has increased the interaction of student with learning disabilities with the rest of the class, reduced the cognitive gap and produced appreciable results for students, teachers and parents. The project is assessed periodically in schools through all the actors involved (teachers, students, parents).
